OYSTER'S LAST RACE

Will Chase Commissioners No More From School to School.

HIS STORY OF MARATHON

Inspection "Something More Than a Farce" When He Goes Again.

OBJECTION TO SCHOOL NAMES

Associated Charities Authorized to Make Thanksgiving Collection. Criticism of Building Plans.

Capt. James F. Oyster and several other members of the board of education yesterday joined the "Never Again Club."

Never again will they attempt to make inspection of schools on invitation of the District Commissioners. At least the "never again" holds good until they receive some assurance before starting on an automobile cruise around the school buildings that the inspections proposed will be "something more than a farce."

In Pursuit of Commissioners. Capt. Oyster organized the "Never Again" at the meeting of the board of education yesterday, after telling a story of the ups and downs of a recent "inspection" in about the following language:

"We of the school board went to the Western High School to inspect the new buildings there and found that the Commissioners had just left for Cleveland Park. We broke away and speeded to the Eaton School, at Cleveland Park, and found that the Commissioners had been there for five minutes and considered their inspection made and had gone to Chevy Chase."

"So we hopped into the automobile and, by dint of smashing the speed laws, we reached the Chevy Chase School by a short cut just ahead of them. They got through a hurried inspection and went on to the Lovejoy School."

"We hurried after them. But at the Union station a tire on our machine blew up. Never again!"

School Names Objectionable.

The right of the Commissioners to choose names for school buildings was questioned and the discussion developed the fact that no one knew the right name of the M Street High School. It probably has a name. It may be that "M Street High School" is correct, but no one seemed to know.

The Commissioners sent word to the board that they would call the little red schoolhouse out on Bunker Hill road the "Alexander Crummell School." Dr. Tammell objected to this, saying he thought the name of so great an educator of his race should be given to a great school, and suggested that it be given to the M Street High School.

Whereupon everybody began racking brains to remember, if possible, what the right name of that school is. A faint suggestion was made that the school had another name—but no one dug it up at yesterday's meeting.

The engineer department was criticized for having left out forty-seven book closets from the Ketchikan, Bryant, Cooke, Chevy Chase, Monroe and Eaton schools. It will cost $1,880 to install them.

Because the engineer department reported that the basement rooms used as manual training shops in the schools are not adequate, the board voted to have the school buildings enlarged. One of them is to be at 8th and T streets northwest, and the other on Farragut street between 13th and 14th streets.

The committee on buildings said yesterday that the rooms had been reduced in size, despite repeated requests to maintain a standard. The plan was planned too narrow, in the opinion of the board, and the report said that the safety and comfort of children demand plenty of room between seats.

The board suggests drinking fountains. The board claims that the plans of the 8th and T streets building are so complete that details of the stairways are not clear at all. The board also suggested the clock and bell system, an arrangement whereby the periods of the school day could be changed off automatically.

Henry P. Blair asked whether there was any satisfactory clock and bell method in the school. He said he had been emphatically by Capt. Oyster that there was not. According to Capt. Oyster, the old school had a clock and bell system, and the clocks have a method of their own in running, entirely separate and distinct from the standard time.

The committee on awards and prizes reported that the Galt prizes had been awarded as follows: First prize, $30, to Leon F. Cooper, for the best essay on the wheat industry; second prize, $20, to Clifford G. Hines, for the best essay on the silk industry.

The deaths of Mrs. I. O. Henderson and James Sturum, teachers in the public schools, were reported.

Changes of Pedagogy Staff.

Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, vice president of the board, sat in the presiding officer's chair yesterday. It was the first time she had presided.

Most Severe Cold and All Gripe Misery Will Simply Vanish.

The most effective and harmless way to cure the Gripe or break a severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs, is a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

You will distinctly feel the cold breaking and the griping after the first dose. It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dizziness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic aching.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Gripe misery as promptly and without any other assistance as had after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

After three years' research we have conclusively demonstrated that quinine is not effective in the treatment of colds or gripe.

GO TO NEGOTIATE CANADIAN TREATY

Pepper and Hoyt Off to Ottawa to Discuss Reciprocity Pact.

OTTAWA, Ont., November 2.—W. S. Fielding, finance minister of Canada, has announced that word has come from Washington today of the appointment of Charles M. Pepper and Henry M. Hoyt and J. G. Foster, United States consul general at Ottawa, to represent the United States in the reciprocity negotiations.

Canada will be represented by Mr. Fielding and William Patterson, minister of customs.

It is thought here that the conferences will produce substantial results.

What proposals will be made by either side can only be conjectured. As the conference will be behind closed doors, it is likely nothing definite will be announced until the negotiations have been finally ended and an agreement embodied in a written document.

Plan of Negotiations. It is probable that the first few meetings will be devoted to an examination of the trade between Canada and the United States and a discussion as to what lines can be further developed to the benefit of both countries by modification of customs rates, but without substantial change in the fiscal policy of either country.

It is understood that Canada has no intention to sacrifice any Canadian interest or curtail the preference which has been granted to Great Britain. However, it is recognized that while adhering to these principles, there are many anomalies in the tariffs of each country, the removal of which would do away with restrictions that now act as a check upon trade between Canada and the United States.

This is held to be especially true in the case of raw material and natural products.

Neither side has yet given the other any idea what its detailed proposals will be. When they are exchanged there will be an adjournment of the conference to enable the governments of each country to more thoroughly study the proposals.

Hoyt and Pepper Off to Ottawa.

Henry M. Hoyt, counselor of the State Department, and Charles M. Pepper, commercial adviser, left today for Ottawa, the Canadian capital, to represent the United States in the negotiations for a treaty of commercial reciprocity. Secretary Knox may visit Ottawa later in the month to assist in the preparation of the proposed treaty. It is planned to have the agreement ready for submission to Congress early in the coming session.
